Op sees 440 arrests

Police vow to continue fight against burglaries

By NAFEESA SHAN

Police have vowed to continue to crackdown on Lancashire's burglars after hailing a month-long campaign a success.

Officers arrrested 440 people as part of Operation Julius while also recovering almost £300,000 of stolen property across the county including East Lancashire.

More than 5,000 burglary suspects have been visited and warned about their conduct, 200 search warrants have been executed and 141 vehicles seized, as well as more than 880 visits to second hand shops.

But police said that they wanted to maintain the pressure to reduce the burglary rates, which have risen in Burnley and Blackburn during the past year.

Supt Chris Bithell said: "I have been very pleased with all the activity that has been carried out and I would like to thank all those involved for their efforts during the last month.

"However, despite the success this is just the start and we will continue to focus our activities on those people who persistently commit burglary offences so that we can reduce even further the number of victims affected by these crimes."

Action during Operation Julius included identifying Lancashire's top 30 burglary offenders, executing warrants and providing high visibility police patrols in burglary hot spot areas.

Town centre briefings were held in Blackburn, Burnley and Accrington before a string of raids were carried out in the areas.

Officers also used a range of overt and covert tactics to tackle suspected offenders, some of which may involve filming them to prevent burglaries, the use of Automatic Number Plate Recognition technology and warning letters designed to alert them of our intention to crack down on burglary.

Money miles: Walkers are tasteless and proud

BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL: The bad taste walkers set off from the Brewers Arms in Oswaldtwistle

Friends from Oswaldtwistle dressed head to foot in their worst outfits to raise money for a local cause. Victoria Tierney, Erica Anderton and Anne Roundell embarked on a 10k bad taste walk to raise money for the Help Justine Hargreaves organisation. The group was set up to provide a trust fund for single mother Mrs Hargreaves' five children after she was diagnosed with terminal cancer. The ladies collected money in buckets as they walked from the Brewers Arms, over Oswaldtwistle tops and back on Saturday. To get involved e-mail helpjustine@hotmail.co.uk.

Party for kidney op 20-year milestone

By DAVID WATKINSON

A man held a kidney party to celebrate 20 years since he had a transplant aged just six years old.

Gregory McIntyre, 26, of Revidge Road, Blackburn, said it was important to mark the milestone because so many transplants were unsuccessful.

Mum Beverley, 47, said the family had been amazed at how well he has done since the operation and said his condition showed the importance of organ donation.

Greg, who works as a cleaner, said: "We all had a great night.

"It's nice to mark the anniversary because I know that not everyone is able to get on as well as I have with a donor kidney."

Beverley, who lives in Little Harwood, said Gregory was born with hypoplastic kidneys and was very ill until the transplant in 1989 at the Royal Manchester Children's Hospital, Pendlebury.

She said: "At the time it was so frightening and you do not know if the kidney will be accepted. You certainly don't know if it will last for years and years.

"To be able to celebrate the 20-year anniversary is wonderful. We had a little celebration with family and friends. He is still very healthy and there is no reason that the kidney won't last for years and years."

Gregory attends annual in-depth health check-ups on his kidney, as well as quarterly visits to a clinic.

Beverley said she hoped that success stories like Gregory's would encourage more people to became organ donors.

She said: "At the time in the late 1980s, Esther Rantzen led a campaign for more organ donors and I am sure that helped us.

"It is still important that more people register as donors to help people like our Gregory."

TRANSPLANT SUCCESS: Greg marks the kidney transplant anniversary with parents Duncan and Beverley, family and friends. Below, Greg, Duncan and Beverley celebrate his hospital homecoming in 1989

Procession has historic a-Peel!

By EMMA CRUCES

A procession will recreate an historical event and celebrate 100 years since The Coppice was given to the peple of Accrington.

A procession of children, residents, community groups and musicians, led by the Mayoress of Hyndburn, will recreate the original procession which took place when it was handed over as a public green space in 1909.

The mass celebration which took place 100 years ago saw the townspeople celebrate the donation of the land from local landowners, the Peel family.

At the event, a crowd of more than 15,000 walked to the top of The Coppice – 5,000 of them children.

Mayoress of Hyndburn, Sarah Barton will be escorted to the top of the hill by an actor representing 1909 mayor JC Lupton in period costume and will be followed by any groups or residents who want to get involved.

The search is now on for an actor who looks most like the former Mayor to represent him.

Organiser Gayle Knight said: "Everybody is invited and we want to see some real community spirit create a day we will remember for another 100 years."

The grand procession, from Peel Park to the top of The Coppice is due to take place on Saturday, September 26, with musicians lining the route and following the procession as it passes.

To get involved ring Gayle Knight on 01254 387851.

Park permit price hike

By CATHERINE PYE

The price of residential parking permits in Blackburn with Darwen is set to treble.

Permits for householders will go up from £10 to £30 annually over four years through £5 yearly rises.

Business permits will rise from £35 to £50 per annum.

Council bosses said it was the first increase for 13 years, but many residents have been angered by the move.

Ewood matchday schemes will stay at £10 per annum due to the additional inconvenience to residents caused by Ewood Park.

The council said prices had increased to reflect the high costs of legal fees, advertising and administration.

It is thought that the changes will affect 1,500 people throughout the borough, meaning the council could recoup around £30,000 a year.

Witton resident Susan Elwood, who has to use permits outside her house, said: "An increase of this size per car, and with most households having two cars plus visitors, is very steep.

"I would imagine the whole town will be up in arms about this.

"You're looking at a fair old whack and you've no option but to pay it."

Mill Hill councillor Malcolm Doherty said: "I don't think people will be very impressed by the cost going up.

"They will be even less impressed in Mill Hill because over the last 12 months there have been problems of the parking permits not being patrolled very well.

"People who don't have permits have not been checked, and people who have paid are understandably annoyed."

PROBLEMS: Coun Malcolm Doherty

Bravery award for detectives

By TYRONE MARSHALL

HONOUR: DS Dan Perkins, left, DI Claire Holbrook and Chief Supt Andy Rhodes

Two detectives who disarmed a violent knifeman after a robbery at an off-licence have been given a prestigious bravery award.

Detective Inspector Claire Holbrook and Detective Sergeant Dan Perkins, from Blackburn CID, received the James O'Donnell award after they tackled the man during an incident at Amar Deep Wine Shopn in Granville Road, Blackburn, earlier this year.

The man, who was carrying two large cutlass pirate-style knives, was arrested after a struggle, leaving the officers suffering cuts and bruises.

DS Perkins suffered a black eye and had his glasses smashed.

Their actions were praised by Chief Superintendent Andy Rhodes.

He said: "When staff go the extra mile they need to know it is not simply taken for granted.

"It is important to show that their work is, and will continue to be, recognised. They deserve the recognition as they set an example to others that is hard to follow."

DI Holbrook said they traced the man to a nearby address when they attempted to arrest him.

She said: "He was extremely violent and volatile and when we tried to arrest him he was threatening us with the knives."

He was later detained under the Mental Health Act.

DI Holbrook added: "I was very surprised and humbled to receive this award with my colleague.

"As in all cases similar to this, it was just cops being cops and arresting criminals, but it is great to be recognised."

The award is named after Detective Inspector James O'Donnell who was shot and killed as he attended a domestic dispute in Brewery Street, Blackburn, in December 1958.

Mr O'Donnell, who had a distinguished war record, was posthumously awarded the Queen's Police Medal for Gallantry and a plaque and photographic tribute to him is displayed in Blackburn town centre police station.

Quality shops close to home

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

Rather like people who live at the seaside yet rarely venture on to the beach, it is all too easy to miss out on the good things that lie on your doorstep.

This is particularly true when it comes to retailing and services.

When was the last time you took a good look at everything that's on offer locally?

Yes, you think you know what's there but take a fresh look and you'll be surprised at the range of quality of retailers waiting to help you.

By staying local when you shop you get the best of both worlds – the convenience of finding just the right thing so close to home, and the friendly, personalised service that can help improve any shopping experience.

Everyone is acutely aware of the current economic situation, none more so than local traders.

And they have responded by putting forward a whole selection of special offers to tempt you with.

Because these are businesses with a base in the community they have developed close links with people over the year.

Many of the traders remain independent and often family owned which gives that little extra confidence.

From product knowledge to providing the best levels of service, these traders have built their reputations on looking after people and meeting their needs.

Many of our local towns offer the best of both worlds for sitting alongside these traditional, independent businesses are major high street names.

This combination is the ideal solution, no matter what your requirements. The temptation is to set off on a major shopping 'expedition' top some far flung retail park or distant town centre.

But do you really need to when the answer to all your needs lies on your doorstep.

So, before setting out take a moment to reflect on those local retailers and businesses which have served the area so well for so long.

Plans for birthing centres

By CHRIS HOPPER

Three new 'birthing centres' will open across East Lancashire by next autumn, health chiefs have pledged.

The sites, in Blackburn, Burnley and Rossendale, will allow women with uncomplicated pregnancies "greater and more convenient choice" over how they give birth.

The centres will include birth pools, sofas and beds to create a more natural environment for babies to be delivered, NHS bosses say.

Burnley's birthing complex will be housed in the new £30million women's and new-born centre in the town's general hospital.

The facility is due to open by next autumn and is expected to be a national leader in treating high-risk pregnancies.

The site for the Blackburn centre is yet to be confirmed, but it is understood it could be built on the site of the Royal Blackburn Hospital.

Meanwhile, Rossendale's birthing centre will be inside the borough's new £10million health hub in Bacup Road, Rawtenstall.

Rineke Schram, East Lancashire Hospitals' medical director, said: "We have worked extensively with local mothers to develop East Lancashire's birthing centres, which will provide a modern and safe space, while reducing the medicalisation of what is essentially a natural process.

"Women with uncomplicated pregnancies will be able to have their babies in a birthing centre, where research shows they are also likely to have a less stressful, less painful and generally more positive birth experience.

"More complicated births will take place at the state-of-the-art £30million women's and new-born centre in Burnley, where we will have the equipment and expertise to care for the very poorliest newborns, and co-ordinate the most difficult births with increased immediate availability of senior obstetricians."

The three centres form part of East Lancashire Hospitals NHS Trust's Meeting Patients' Needs programme.

No more one night stands!

ACCLAIMED chef, broadcaster and writer Allegra McEvedy presents new BBC Two series Economy Gastronomy with Paul Merrett which started yesterday.

Their tie-in book of the same name is published in hardback by Michael Joseph on August 17, priced £20.

Allegra, who was awarded an MBE for services to the hospitality industry in 2008, lives in London's Shepherd's Bush with her wife Susi.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... Allegra McEvedy

TELL US ABOUT YOUR NEW SERIES, ECONOMY GASTRONOMY

It's about eating better and spending less. It's about getting people to fall in love with their kitchens a little bit more. It's about getting out of some bad habits that we've got into because they make it so easy for us to buy food then throw it away, and then go out and buy some more.

HAVE YOU FINISHED FILMING IT?

Very nearly. We shot the last big bit in my garden. There was a big barbecue, which was fun. It's all done bar the shouting basically.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVOURITE RECIPE IN THE BOOK OF THE SERIES?

There's this bit in the book about these 'bedrocks', and that's my favourite thing. Instead of being standalone recipes, you make a thing like a roast chicken, or you cook some mince, or you poach a bit of fish or whatever it is.

You purposefully make enough, then not just have leftovers, but do something with the leftovers to make it into something totally different.

That's what really makes this book very different to anything else that's out there. People see their meals as a succession of one-night stands really.

If you do a little bit of planning and a bit of cooking when you've got time, you'll have something yummy that you made that's cheap and delicious.

Deb's blues fest first

ROCK royalty comes to Colne next month in the form of Deborah Bonham – sister of the late Led Zeppelin drummer John Bonham.

Deborah will play the International Stage at 20th anniversary Great British Blues Festival with her band — and she can hardly wait.

"I'm really excited about it," said the singer/songwriter, who lives in West Sussex.

"I've not done the festival before, but this year they invited me and I'm thrilled. It's going to be excellent."

The Bonham family tree is firmly rooted in musical tradition.

Deborah was just six when brother John joined Led Zeppelin, but this powerful introduction to blues rock sparked in her an overwhelming desire to write and perform.

"I first saw Led Zeppelin play at Birmingham Town Hall with an audience of about 2,500 and I remember thinking: 'Oh wow, that's what I want to do.'

"Their music was very much rooted in the blues, but they took it to another level. I'm sure that's where my love of that style of music comes from, though."

It wasn't until after John's untimely death in 1980 that Deborah decided to take the plunge and enter the world of music.

"The reason being there was no way on this planet he would have wanted me to do it," said Deborah.

"I studied very hard at school so I think he just wanted me to go and be a doctor or something."

● See the Deborah Bonham Band at the festival, Colne, on Saturday, August 29, at 3.30pm.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
A poor Scotish tailor lived next door to an expensive eating place.
Everyday Jock sat outside with his meagre meal stuffing his face.
Jock smelt the wonderful odours coming from next door,
The pompous restaurant manager just couldn't take anymore.
He sent Jock an invoice " for enjoyment of food."
Jock politely said he wouldn't pay, the manager was very rude.
"It is clear we are providing added value to your poor diet, your taking us for a ride!!"
Jock didn't say anything, put his hand in his pocket and rattled the few coins he had inside.
